

Tim Helbig

After studying Media Art in 2012 at Bauhaus University Weimar, Tim Helbig completed his Master's degree in »Electroacoustic Composition and Sound Design« with Prof. Robin Minard at the Hochschule für Musik FRANZ LISZT Weimar by July 2014 (graduated with distinction). His artistic work includes the conception and realization of complex sound installations, the composition of acousmatic music, compositions for (self-developed) experimental instruments with live electronics, as well as contemporary stage music. He is also active as a musician and live-electronics performer in improvisation concerts and is widely engaged in projects and concerts that explore and discuss current compositional and performance practices. From 2015 to 2023, he taught as an artistic staff member at the Studio for Electroacoustic Music of the Hochschule für Musik FRANZ LISZT / Bauhaus University Weimar. Tim Helbig has received multiple scholarships for music/composition from the Kulturstiftung Thüringen. In 2022, he was awarded the »Walter-Dexel-Stipendium der Stadt Jena«.
